

Munich Unconference

Dr Brendan Wallace

Dr Alastair Ross

The 'structure'

- Brief (two minute!!!) introduction
- Participants are invited to write their name and session topic on a large piece of paper (A4 or 8.5x11) which is posted on the wall. This announces the title of your session. Once all the sessions have been posted, these are still open to adjustment, given democratic discussion.

There are no rules but....

- Law of Two Feet ("If you are not learning or contributing it is your responsibility to go somewhere where you can learn or contribute.")
- Or...
- If you're not talking and you're not listening, leave and go somewhere you can do one or both of these things!

‘World Café’

- Explore questions that matter
- Encourage everyone's contribution
- Connect diverse perspectives
- Generate innovative possibilities for action

Possible themes and questions

- What is the relationship between epistemology and ontology?
- What is the relationship between practice and theory in the social sciences generally and cognitive science in particular?
- What does AI, AL and Robotics tell us about cognition (if anything)? What can it tell us?
- What do we 'do' as post-cognitivists?

And finally.....

- You are the right people
- It starts when it starts
- What happens, happens
- It's over when it's over
- 'By all means break the rules, and break them beautifully, deliberately and well. That is one of the ends for which they exist. ' (Robert Bringham)
